Session 1- 9:15 AM - Modular 4

MARVELOUS MATH ONLINE RESOURCES

Would you like to learn more about all of the marvelous math resources found online that are available to your child? In this workshop, we will explore the enVision online textbook and show you how to access the homework pages from home, use the online glossary, and view instructional videos by topic. Also included will be the online resources available for the 6th-grade book from McDougal Little. In addition, we will explore the First in Math website and more online resources your child can access to strengthen his or her math skills. Come and join us to learn about some marvelous math resources! -

Presenter: Kristin Gudusky and Mary Doherty, Math Specialists.....RSVP- kgudusky@crsd.org or mdoherty@crsd.org

Session 2- 10:00 AM - A-46

Tired of using those basic addition, subtraction, multiplication and division flashcards with your child to help practice math facts? Come spend some time learning dozens of other fun, engaging and active ideas to make learning and practicing facts a time to enjoy with your child. You may want to bring a shoe box or similar container, since we are going to fill it with lots of math fact practice goodies!

Presenter: Gina Booth, Instructional Support Teacher.....RSVP- gbooth@crsd.org

Session 3- 2:30 PM - A-47

DIG DEEPER.... Teaching Your Child to be a Critical Reader Reading

This workshop will provide a better understanding of the growing expectations of our children as readers. It will provide parents with helpful tips and tools to assist their children at any level when interacting with the text, for a deeper understanding.

Presenter: Kathy Manning, Literacy Specialist.....RSVP- kmanning@crsd.org

Session 4- 3:00 PM - B-13

Addressing Social Skills in our New Social World

With the abundant use of technology used in our students' lives, the social world as we know it has changed. Young students are having more challenges learning how to solve conflicts, cooperate, utilizing active listening skills, compromise, as well as other social skills. This workshop will talk about ways in which parents and educators can work together to address these social skill needs.

Presenter: Dr. Alexis Sandberg, Guidance Counselor.....RSVP- asandberg@crsd.org

If you are interested in any of these workshops, please RSVP directly to the Presenter(s). We need an accurate account of attendees to ensure sufficient materials and hand-outs.
